PROCURABLE FROM ALL THE PRINCIPAL CIGAR DEALERS THROUGHOUT INDIA.

CAUTION:—It having come to SPENCER & Co.'s knowledge that many Native Firms, with and without European designations, are supplying Cigars bearing the same names as their Popular Brands, they beg to warn the Public against these Imitations, and to request Purchasers to satisfy themselves that the Cigars are of their manufacture by examining the outside of the Box, and to accept none but those bearing the Signature of the Firm on the Label, and one of the Firm's Trade Marks, as below, branded on the Lid:—

Cigars covered with Sumatra leaf bear this brand.

Cigars manufactured with Dindigul Tobacco bear this brand.

THE "BLÜTHNER" PIANO-FORTES.

BOUDOIR AND CONCERT GRANDS AND COTTAGES

BY the above maker, are now being monthly received at their Bombay Agency, and are offered at Manufacturer's Prices, plus Rs. 60 for freight and incidental charges.

Though low priced, these high-class instruments stand HIGHEST in the estimation of Western civilisation. The Factory is the largest in Europe, manufacturing no less than 3,000 Pianos every year, which, reduced to a minimum, will exhibit the extraordinary fact of one Piano in every working hour of the day.

Another feature very remarkable with these Pianos is their sweetness and richness of tone their perfect and never failing mechanism, delicacy of touch, and last, but not least, the length of time they keep in tune, which is twice or thrice as long as the best Pianos—a fact which is an important advantage to Mofussil Residents.

We invite inspection of these splendid Pianos, and will send Messrs. T. Blüthner's own Illustrated Price List free on application.

SIMPLE PHOSPHORUS PILLS.
(Dr. KIRBY'S Formula, No. 5), containing 1-20th gr. Phosphorus.
Dr. KIRBY says: "Experience fully warrants the administration of Phosphorus in this dose" in severe attacks of Neuralgia and cases of extreme Nervous Exhaustion; it gives excellent results, taken with food three or four times a day.

PHOSPHORUS AND QUININE PILLS.
(Dr. KIRBY'S Formula, No. 3), containing 1-20th gr. Phosphorus.
This is a valuable combination of two powerful restoratives. As a nutrient tonic it gives power to the brain and spinal cord, imparts tone to the digestive organs, increases functional activity and improves the condition of the whole system. It is largely employed in India during convalescent stages of Intermittent and remittent fevers. It is an excellent remedy for Malaise induced by the climate, and is a good prophylactic against Malaria.

EPPS'S COCOA.

BREAKFAST.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws, which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately-flavoured beverage, which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us, ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—See article of the Civil Service Gazette.

NERVOUS EXHAUSTION.

PULVERMACHER'S WORLD-FAMED GALVANIC BELTS, for the cure of NERVOUS COMPLAINTS, have received Testimonials from THREE PHYSICIANS TO HER MAJESTY THE QUEEN and the leading Physicians of Nine London Hospitals, including Forty Members of the Royal College of Physicians of London,

The distressing symptoms of NERVOUS EXHAUSTION, loss of MUSCULAR POWER, RHEUMATISM, SCIATICA, PARALYSIS, EPILEPSY, &c., are speedily removed by means of Pulvermacher's World-famed Galvanic Belts, which convey the electric current direct to the affected parts, gradually stimulating and strengthening all the nerves and muscles, and speedily arresting all symptoms of premature waste and decay.

Dr. C. HANDFIELD JONES, F.R.C.P., F.R.S., Physician to St. Mary's Hospital, says: "I am satisfied that Mr. PULVERMACHER is an honest and earnest labourer in the field of science, and I think he deserves to meet with every encouragement from the profession and scientific men."

Sir CHARLES LOCOCK, Bart., M.D., Physician to Her Majesty, says: "PULVERMACHER'S BELTS are very effective in Neuralgia and Rheumatic Affections, and I have prescribed them largely in my practice for other similar maladies, paralysis, &c."

For Full Price List and Particulars, see new Pamphlet, "GALVANISM: NATURE'S CHIEF RESTORER OF IMPAIRED VITAL ENERGY." Post free from

DR. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE,

THE ORIGINAL AND ONLY GENUINE.

ADVICE TO INVALIDS.—If you wish to obtain quiet, refreshing sleep, free from headache, relief from pain and anguish, to calm and assuage the weary achings of protracted disease, invigorate the nervous system, and regulate the circulating systems of the body, you will provide yourself with that marvellous remedy discovered by Dr. J. Collis Browne (late Army Medical Staff), to which he gave the name of CHLORODYNE, and which is admitted by the Profession to be the most wonderful and valuable remedy ever discovered.

CHLORODYNE is the best remedy known for Coughs, Consumption, Bronchitis, Asthma

CHLORODYNE acts like a charm in Diarrhœa and is the only specific in Cholera and Dysentery.

CHLORODYNE effectually cuts short all attacks of Epilepsy, Hysteria, Palpitation, and Spasms.

CHLORODYNE is the only palliative in Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Gout, Cancer, Toothache, Meningitis, &c.

From Symes & Co., Pharmaceutical Chemists, Medical Hall, Simla, January 5, 1889, to J. T. Davenport, Esq., 3 Great Russell-street, Bloomsbury, London. "Dear Sir,—We embrace this opportunity of congratulating you upon the widespread reputation this justly esteemed medicine, Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne, has earned for itself not only in Hindostan, but all over the East, as a remedy of general utility, so much question whether a better is imported into this country, and we shall be glad to hear of its finding a place in every Anglo-Indian home. The other day, we are happy to say, are now relegated to the native bazaars, and judging from their sale, we fancy their sojourn there will be but evanescent. We could multiply instances ad infinitum of the extraordinary efficacy of Dr. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne, but refrain, as we presume the above will suffice. We have ourselves taken it in all climates, and at all seasons, and have invariably found it relieve promptly. In Cholera, in Diarrhœa, and even in the more terrible forms of Cholera itself, we have witnessed its surprisingly controlling power. We have never known any other form of this medicine than Collis Browne's from a firm conviction that it is decidedly the best, and also from a sense of duty we owe to the profession and the public, we are of opinion that the substitution of any other than Collis Browne's is a DELIBERATE BREACH OF FAITH on the PART OF THE CHEMIST TO PURCHASER AND PATIENT." Signed by the above firm, Mr. Symes being also Mr. Faithfully yours, Symes & Co., Members of the Pharm. Society of Great Britain, His Excellency the Viceroy's Chemists, Simla.

CAUTION.—Vice-Chancellor Sir W. Page Wood stated that Dr. J. Collis Browne was undoubtedly the inventor of Chlorodyne; that the whole of the profits arising from the sale thereof ought to have been paid to him, and not to Mr. Freeman, who had fraudulently assumed the right to the sole manufacture thereof.—See "The Times" of July 13, 1864.

Sold in bottles at 1s. 1½d., 2s. 9d., 4s. 6d., and 11s. each. None is genuine without the words "Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne" on the Government stamp. Overwhelming medical testimony accompanies each bottle.

CAUTION :—Beware of Piracy and Imitation. Sole Manufacturer—J. T. DAVENPORT, 33, Russell's Street, Bloomsbury, London.

DR. DE ROOS'

COMPOUND RENAL PILLS

Are a safe and speedy Remedy for the above dangerous complaints, Discharges and Diseases of the Urinary Organs generally, which too frequently harass the sufferer over the best years of life, and end only in an agonizing death. For weakness across the loins, sandy or other deposit in the water, and in all cases of renal or urinary disturbance, they are, indeed, unrivalled. They correct acidity of the stomach, and promote the functions of the kidneys, thereby preventing stone in the bladder, &c. Many complaints, long supposed to be nervous, often arise solely from contamination of the blood with certain impurities which should have been carried off by the kidneys. Thousands of testimonials from grateful Patients attest their marvellous efficacy. In packages, 2s. 9d. and 4s. 6d.

DR. DE ROOS'
PILULÆ VITÆ, OR VEGETABLE LIFE PILLS.

The most wonderful Pills in the world for Indigestion, Biliousness, and all Disorders of the Liver, Stomach and Bowels. Their action is mild yet effectual; they do not gripe or purge, and for habitual costiveness, loss of appetite, disturbed sleep, harassing dreams, wind, indigestion, sick headache, furred tongue, unpleasant taste in the mouth on rising in the morning, sallowness, scurvy, pimples, blotches, boils, &c., they are of unexampled efficacy; and being prepared solely from the vegetable kingdom, may be taken by the most delicate of either sex, equally with the robust, merely regulating the dose according to the printed directions accompanying each box.

Those who are subject to occasional attacks of Biliousness instead of resorting to the old-fashioned blue pill and nauseous black draughts, will do well to keep a box of these Pills by them and never leave home without them; an attack may thus be nipped in the bud by taking a dose or two, which, if allowed to run its course for a few days, would probably almost completely prostrate its unhappy victim. Sold in boxes at 1s. 1½d., 2s. 9d., and 4s. 6d.

DR. DE ROOS'
WORLD-FAMED
GUTTAE VITAE,
OR LIFE DROPS.

The Great European Remedy for Nervous and Functional Debility, Spermatorrhœa, &c.

This remarkable rejuvenating essence strengthens the vitality of the whole system, gives energy to the muscles, and speedily restores the impaired powers of life, imparting strength and manly vigour to the most debilitated and worn out constitution. Those who suffer from Premature Decay, or deficiency of the Vital Forces owing to long residence in India, or any other cause, will find this medicine just what they require. Equally adapted for the studious and sedentary; the aged and infirm; the nervous and debilitated; as also for delicate females and weakly children. All sufferers from loss of appetite, nervous headache, lassitude, and despondency—too often accompanied with suicidal thoughts—should make immediate and fair unprejudiced trial of this wonderful medicine, which is daily effecting the most remarkable cures in patients who had been given up by the faculty. In all cases of nervous and functional debility (arising from whatever cause), it is truly unrivalled. To married persons especially, this preparation will prove invaluable, giving strength and vigour in place of lassitude and incapacity.—Price 11s., or four times that quantity, 33s. per bottle.

Dr. De Roos' Medicines are sold by all the Principal Chemists and Merchants in India. Purchasers are particularly requested to see that every package bears the British Government Stamp, with the words "WALTER DE ROOS, LONDON," impressed thereon in white letters on a red ground, and refuse worthless imitations frequently put forward by unscrupulous vendors for the sale of extra profit.

FOR THE BLOOD IS THE LIFE.

CLARKE'S
WORLD-FAMED BLOOD MIXTURE

THE GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER AND RESTORER

For cleansing and clearing the blood from all impurities it cannot be too highly recommended.
For Scrofula, Scurvy, Skin and Blood Diseases, Eczema, and Sores of all kinds, it is a never-failing and permanent cure.

It Cures Old Sores,
Cures Ulcerated Sores on the Neck.
Cures Ulcerated Sore Legs,
Cures Blackheads or Pimples on the Face.
Cures Scurvy Sores.
Cures Cancerous Ulcers.
Cures Blood and Skin Diseases,
Cures Glandular Swellings,
Cures the Blood from all Impure matter
From whatever cause arising.

Clarke's Blood Mixture is the only real Specific for Gout and Rheumatic pains, for it removes the cause from the blood and bones.

As this mixture is pleasant to the taste and warranted free from anything injurious to the most delicate constitution of either sex, the Proprietors solicit sufferers to give it a trial to test its value.

"It is entirely free from any poison or metallic impregnation, does not contain any injurious ingredient and is a good safe, and useful medicine.—ALFRED SWAINE TAYLOR, M.D., F.R.S., Lecturer on Medical Jurisprudence and Toxicology."

"The Hon. Surgeon to His Excellency the Viceroy of India prescribes Clarke's Blood Mixture largely, and speaks highly of its efficacy in skin affections, &c. On this account we wrote asking if you could supply the Mixture for dispensing purposes."—Letter from A. John & Co., Druggists, &c., Agra, India, June, 1888.

West Cowes, Isle of Wight, September, 1888.

Dear, Sirs,—Through the merits of your excellent Clarke's Blood Mixture the large red pimples which covered my face are fast disappearing. For a long time I put up with the discomfort of these pimples thinking that nothing would do any good. At last I was persuaded to try your medicine, and now I have taken one bottle they are rapidly vanishing. It cannot be too highly recommended, and I am most grateful. I will tell all my friends about it, but they really do not require telling because they can see the difference for themselves. You may publish this if needful.—I am, gratefully yours,
"ISLA GERALDINE RIPON."

THOUSANDS OF TESTIMONIALS.

Clarke's Blood Mixture is sold in Bottles 2s. 9d. each, and in cases, containing six times the quantity, 11s., sufficient to effect a permanent cure in the most horrible cases of BLOOD DISEASE. ALL CHEMISTS and PATENT MEDICINE VENDORS throughout the world. Proprietors, THE LINCOLN AND MIDLAND COUNTIES DRUG COMPANY, Lincoln, England. Trade Mark—"BLOOD MIXTURE."

CAUTION.

Purchasers of Clarke's Blood Mixture should see that they get the genuine article. Worthless imitations are sometimes palmed off by unprincipled vendors. The words "Lincoln and Midland Counties Drug Company, Lincoln, England," are engraved on the Government Stamp, and "Clarke's World-famed Blood Mixture," blown in the Bottle WITHOUT WHICH NONE ARE GENUINE.

A., Mr. Badruddin Tayebjee and Professors Hethornthwaite, Peterson, MacMillan, MacDonald, Barry, Sharpe, and Hairab have been appointed to the honorary office of Vice-President of the Union, and they will by turns preside on the occasions of public lectures in connection with the Union.

HOUSE-BREAKING AND THEFT.—At the Girgaum Police Court, yesterday Inspector Greyhurst charged Esmaljee Esabjee, before Mr. W. R. Hamilton, Second Presidency Magistrate, with house-breaking and theft of two silver ornaments valued at Rs. 9, the property of Noorbhoy Adamjee, living on the second floor of a house at Dabhu Street. The complainant identified the ornaments, and stated that on Thursday night he went out and fastening the door from inside. At midnight he was roused by a noise, and saw the accused standing on his bed, with a chisel in his hand. He at once raised an alarm, when the accused threw down the ornaments and tried to run away, but he was followed and arrested by the complainant's servant, who handed him over to the police. His Worship sentenced him to undergo six months' rigorous imprisonment.

ARYAN THEOLOGICAL SOCIETY.—A Dharwar correspondent says, the local Philanthropic Literary and Philosophical body (Aryan Theological Society) convened a Sanskrit meeting on the auspicious day of Nag Panchmi, specially for Shastrical discussions in Nyaya, Vendanta and Vyakarna. Business commenced with an elaborate speech of Mr. Anant Bapu Shastri Joshi, F. T. S., the President of the Society. He delineated the chief aims and objects of the Society and recounted the successes the Society has attained in its undertakings. The Vedics recited Vedas for about an hour and-a-half and then followed the philosophical discussions of the learned Pundits. There were assembled about twelve Sanskrit Pundits and ten Vedics, among whom Pandit Bapu Shastri Joshi, Pundit Appanacharya, Pundit Timanacharya Avadhani and Pundit Vastevacharya, were prominent. Four Pundits are well-versed in the different branches of Oriental Science and Literature such as Nyaya Vyakarna, Vedanta, and Alankara. As soon as the discussions came to a close, the President expressed a vote of thanks to the learned Pundits and the gentry of Dharwar for having kindly attended the meeting. The proceedings terminated with the recitation of sacred hymns from Ved as and Upanishads, with distribution of pan supari, attar, gulab, and dakshina, and by putting jasmine garlands round the necks of the learned Sanskrit Pundits and Vedics.

WE are asked to state that copies of the prospectus for 1891, which we reviewed a few days ago, can be obtained from the Honorary Secretary, Bombay Presidency Rifle Association, Deolali. Price—One rupee each. There have been numerous applications for this information.

NOTHING has been heard of late of the Watkin Tower, which is to rival in London the altitude of the Eiffel Tower. The work has, nevertheless, been going steadily forward, foundations for the Tower being completed and the laying out of the grounds considerably advanced. On the invitation of the chairman and directors an inspection of the works was made the other day by a number of members of Parliament and others.

THE impending publication of the history of the war of 1870-71 by the late Count Moltke seems likely, a Berlin correspondent says, to bring in its train further publications. General Von Steinmetz, Commander-in-Chief of the First Army, was, after the battles in August, deprived of the command, which was transferred to Prince Frederick Charles. The reasons for this dismissal were not well known, but a careful study of the report of the general staff shows that differences existed between Field-Marshal Moltke and General Von Steinmetz during the first days of August till the battle of Gravelotte, and that they came to a crisis during this battle. But as to the latter disagreements between Prince Frederick Charles and General Von Steinmetz the report is silent, General Von Steinmetz felt that he was wrongly and unjustly judged in this work; it was said at that time to have almost caused a new split between him and

MYOPIA.

NEAR-SIGHTED OR SHORT-SIGHTED Persons readily appreciate the advantage of wearing Glasses which give them clear Vision for distant objects that would be shadowy or invisible to their unassisted Eyes; but the Vision of the Myopic Eye is generally abnormally acute for minute objects when brought sufficiently close to them, so that the same Persons are less ready to recognize the necessity of correcting the refraction for near objects too.

This necessity does not indeed arise in low degrees of Myopia, but when minute objects, such as small types, cannot be distinctly seen in a good light at the distance of a foot, Glasses are imperatively required for reading, in order to remove the causes that must otherwise operate to increase the defect.

It seldom happens, however, that the same Glasses are useful for correcting both distant and near Vision, and of the two the necessity for correcting the distant Vision is the more urgent, or it may rather be said that one is essentially necessary and the other convenient and desirable.

COMMERCIAL INTELLIGENCE

FRIDAY EVENING, AUGUST 14.

THERE was no change in Consols in London yesterday at 96⅛; and Indian Sterling Loan was unaltered at 106⅜. An advance of ⅛d. per oz. took place in the price of Bar Silver, at 45½d.; and Rupee Securities were ¼ per cent. higher in each denomination at £77⅜ for Fours, and £76½ for 4½ per cents; and in New York the metal was up ⅛ cent. at 99½ cents., with demand Exchange on London unchanged at 4·86 dollars. The Indian Council placed 2½ lakhs of Bills on Bombay, and a like amount on Calcutta, at 1s. 5 9-32 to 5-16d.; and a lakh of Wire Transfers on Bombay at 1s. 5⅜d., the higher rate obtained for the Bills being 1-16 above Wednesday's regular allotment rate. The Exchange Banks' buying rate on India at 30 days' sight remained at 1s. 5 1-16d. Braziers' Copper was 10s. lower, at £60 10s. per ton. French Rentes in Paris advanced ¼ per cent., say to 95½; Exchange on London was a shade higher, at fcs. 25·27.

The weekly shipments of Specie from London to India consisted of £10,000 in Silver, and £30,000 in Gold to this port.

The Returns of the Bank of England for the week ending on Wednesday make the position of the Bank's Reserve unchanged since the previous statement at 44 per cent. of the Liabilities. The Bank rate remained at 2½ per cent. and the market rates of discount were unaltered since Wednesday, at 1⅞ for short London Bills, and 2⅜ per cent. for six months' sight Indian Bank Paper.

The Wheat Market was strong at a further advance of 1d. per cental both in No. 1 Soft White, and White Delhi on the spot in Liverpool, at 8s. 2d. and 7s. 11d. per cental, ex-quay respectively, Linseed was firm at Wednesday's enhanced rates of 42s. 6d. for quarter, ex-quay, both on the spot and to arrive.

Cotton in Liverpool closed steady last evening; Surats in fair demand; and Arrivals quiet but steady, the total sales having aggregated 10,000 bales, including 500 East Indian. Spot prices were quite unaltered; but American Arrivals were 3-64d. lower for August and August-September, and 1-16d. down in all the more distant positions, the extreme quotations being 4 13-32d. for August deliveries, and 4 9-16d. for December-January. The day's Imports were nil. The Manchester Market was steady.

The spot price in New York further declined 1-16 cent yesterday; making it 8 cents; and Futures for next month were 8 points lower, at 7·79 cents. The day's Receipts at the U. S. Ports were 3,000 bales.

Transactions in Cotton here have again been upon a small scale to-day, and the tone of the market has been quiet, but prices are unchanged. For export, only 200 bales of Westerns have been taken, at Rs. 155; and local spinners have bought only 1,000 bales, consisting of 200 bales each of Karanja, at Rs. 165; Naggur Ginned, at Rs. 182; and Comptee Ginned, at Rs. 182; and 100 bales each of Bhagalkot, at Rs. 158; Morvi, at Rs. 183: Compta, at Rs. 160; and Oomra, at Rs. 160 per candy.

WHEAT has been firm in tone, and prices have advanced half an anna per cwt., but only a moderate business has transfered. We now quote:—

White Pessy 91 per cent. Rs.	5-4-6	per cwt.
Do. 85 "	5-3-6	"
No. 1 Club Delhi..... "	4-15-6	"
Red Delhi ..... "	4-11-0	"
Hard Yellow..... "	4-6-0	"
Red Ahmedabad..... "	4-12-0	"
Hard Red..... "	4-3-6	"

SEEDS have been steady, but with no increase in the volume of business passing, and prices are quite unchanged.

The Receipts of Produce into Bombay yesterday were as follows:—

Cotton	1,187 bales.
Wheat	1,370 cwts.
Linseed.....	4,972 "
Rapeseed	466 "
Gingelly	707 "
Poppyseed	671 "
Groundnuts.....	970 "
Castorseed	693 "

FREIGHTS are firm but with not much doing, as holders of tonnage are asking 6d. to 1s. advance on yesterday's rates. The Kirby Hall (s) has been berthed for Liverpool, for September loading, with 2,000 tons at 22s., and has refused to do more below 22s. 6d. per ton. Business has been done for Antwerp, for October shipment at 22s. 3d to 22s. 6d. per ton.

EXCHANGE opened very irregularly, and a little Bank Demand was given at 1s 5⅞d; but none afterwards, three months' sight Credits were placed at 1s. 5¾d. and the Banks' selling rate was reduced to 1s. 5 1-16d. Calcutta rates have also declined 1-16d. during the day, and business is reported to be very quiet there. Our market closed with a weak feeling at the following quotation for

Bank Bills on Demand...	1s. 5 9-32 to 5-16d.	per rupee
Do. Telegraphic.....	1s. 5 ¼d.	"
Do. 3 months' sight....	1s. 5 13-32d.	"
Credits do.	...1s. 5½d.	"
Francs do.	...1 94d.	"

GOVERNMENT PAPER.—The feeling in this market has favoured operators for the rise to-day, and there have been buyers of Fours, for both the ac counts, but little has been actually booked. For Money, the rate has been steady at 107 13-16; the closing account quotations being 107 11-16 for the end of this month, and 107 7-16 for Septem ber's settlement. 106 nominal is still quoted for 4½ per cents.

SHARES.—Cotton Mill Scrip has been very quiet to-day at previous quotations; but Press Shares have an upward tendency, though little fresh has been done to-day to make a change in rates.

LUNGUR PROCESSION AT HYDERABAD.

AN IMPOSING SPECTACLE.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

HYDERABAD, Aug. 14.

The annual Mohorrum Lungur procession, which is nothing more than the march-past before His Highness and the Minister, of all the Nizam's troops, regular and irregular, stationed in and about Hyderabad, has this year been as brilliant a spectacle as ever, and everything passed off most successfully. Over three hundred invitations were issued by Sir Asman Jah to the Residency, to the garrison at Secunderabad, Trimulgherry and Bolarum, to the railway officials and to those in His Highness' service. Long before one o'clock, the time fixed for the starting of the procession, His Excellency's palace in the city began to fill with the different guests, and in a short time the spacious rooms, corridors, and the pavilion upstairs were crowded. Within, the pretty toilettes of the ladies, the uniforms of the military and the picturesque dresses of some of the city people, presented a bright and animated scene; while without, in the streets below, a dense but orderly crowd in their holiday attire completed a picture at once brilliant and interesting. Gorgeously caparisoned elephants with their trunks painted in all the hues of the rainbow and covered with silver and gold ornaments, and two carrying on them exquisitely-chased howdahs of this precious metal, camels in bright red and yellow trappings, and horses covered with silver ornaments, brought to mind picturesque Hyderabad of the old days. Processions of all descriptions, from the painted tiger to boys got up as monkeys, passed and repassed before the eye of the spectator.

A little after one, the guests sat down to a recherché lunch, Sir Asman Jah leading the way with Mrs. Stephens, wife of General Stephens, and the other guests following. Covers for 300 were laid on long tables in different parts of the palace, and justice was done to the good things provided by the genial and pleasant host. Owing to his recent bereavement the Resident was unable to be present, but he was represented by his first assistant, Mr. Crawford.

About two o'clock the procession began to file past, headed by the Nawab Akbar Jung's mounted and foot police. With a few interruptions, thousands of Arabs, Rohillas, Sikhs, Africans, Deccanees, and others, passed in one continual stream, preceded by their different Jemadars, who were mostly mounted on elephants. Towards the end appeared the smart Golconda Brigade, under the command of that most popular of men, Major the Nawab Afsur Jung, and as he rode by he was loudly cheered by the ladies and gentlemen from cantonments. The Golconda Cavalry rode past in splendid order, followed by the infantry in their neat soldierly uniform, the men stepping out with a regularity and precision which evoked commendation from all. The bullock battery came next, the drivers occupying what seemed to be very uncomfortable seats on the yokes.

The [illegible] vigorously cheered, and he and his staff were followed by the African Cavalry Guards and three regiments of Lancers. After this the Horse Artillery, the animals looking in splendid condition, went by, and then came the six regiments of Regular Infantry, preceded by their different bands. The Minister's own Paigah troops, consisting of Cavalry, Infantry and Horse Artillery, under the command of Colonel Neale, marched past in excellent style, and a material improvement was noticeable as regards the horses, the accoutrements and the marching of the men, on which Colonel Neale is to be congratulated. The procession was brought to a close a little after six, when the Minister's guests left, all agreeing that they had spent a most pleasant and interesting day.

THE MANIPUR EXECUTIONS.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

MANIPUR, Aug. 13.

The Manipur prisoners, the Jubraj and Tongal General, were hanged at 5 o'clock this afternoon. Naturally great interest was aroused and a large crowd collected to see the executions. The prisoners were conveyed to the scene of execution under escorts punctually at the time ordered, and taken to the gallows, which were in the centre of a square formed by 500 rifles of the 2nd and 43rd Gurkhas. Two gallows had been erected, so that the Jubraj and Tongal General faced each other. The Jubraj walked down quite composedly and ascended the ladder steadily by himself, but the Tongal General, who has been unable to walk since his arrest, had to be carried down from the jail. He sat on a stool on the platform until the drop fell.

When everything was ready a signal was given and the two prisoners dropped together. The bodies were left hanging for an hour, and after formal examination by a Medical Officer they were taken down. The troops then marched away. The arrangements were carefully made and effective. Everything was quiet, but for the wailings of a number of women and relations.

Before the bodies were fairly down the crowd had begun to disperse.

The bodies were subsequently made over to the relations to be burnt with due ceremony, and the roads for some distances were thronged with Manipuries and a good many Nagas who all went away quietly.

The guests assembled at 9-30, and were received by Capts. Cox and Jervis. The Madras Cricketers, who are guests at Government House, entered the Hall with the Government House party, and the Madras Oarsmen were also present at the dinner. The arrangements were as complete and admirable as usual, and His Excellency and Lady Harris, took part in several dances. The ball-room presented a very pretty appearance and the floor was very inviting. The music provided by His Excellency's band, was all that could be desired.

There is also a small dance at Government House to-night.

POONA RACQUET MATCH.

The Racquet match between Madras vs. Bombay was played this morning at the Club, it being arranged that the best five games were to decide Poona started and Smith opening with service of four aces, subseqeently Stevens for Madras made sequence of seven aces at his fourth chance. Bowden-Smith ran out with a sequence of seven and the game was won by Bombay by of a score of 15 to 10 Bowden-Smith opened a second game by scoring three aces and was brilliantly put out by Poore. Usborne later on made seven aces. Bowden-Smith then won the game with a sequence of three aces. Continuing his service, Bowden-Smith scored three aces in the third game. Poona then made three in a brilliant fashion, after which Bowden-Smith scored five aces and the game was won by a sequence of six aces by Usborne. The score was 15 to 7 for Bombay. total score 45 points, Madras 21. Bowden-Smith made 27, Usborne 18, Stevens 12 and Poore 9.

THE POONA REGATTA.

The first day the Poona Regatta opened to-day in splendid weather at Rosherville where there was a large and brilliant assambly, including H E. Lady Harris, the four events proved of little or no interest, tne termination of each race peing merely a procession. The challenge fours of the big event of the day ended in a very easy victory for Poona who were never called upon to show their mettle. After the first quarter mile, Madras got off with a good start rowing forty a minute. The other boats being under they had the inside position and rowed into dead water and found a bend, whilst their opponents had the benefit of the stream. At the boathouse. Poona was four leg lengths ahead of Bombay, the latter trying their strengthen, against Madras. At every stroke they forged ahead and showed really good form, quickly getting a length the better of Madras, although unable to gain on Poona. The boat was about 100 yards from winning post when Madras ceased to row and Poona terminated with a good four lengths ahead of Bombay. The style and steady strike of Poona was much admired, whilst Bombay rowed prettily, although so badly beaten by Poona.

There was nothing of exciting character in other events. The first race for junior Moore. In the [illegible] and [illegible] Bombay, the Madras won easily showing good form. Armstrong, Miss Stannard (2,) Burness, Miss Hunter, (3) In the fourth race 4th race Sutherland Orr walked over his opponent who scratched on account of ill-health.

Sculls between Lieut. F. Forteath vs. Moore proved an easy win for Moore.

The crews were composed as follows :—

STAFF CORPS PROMOTION.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "BOMBAY GAZETTE."

SIR,—I would like to point out through the medium of your columns that it is very essential that all officers of the Indian Staff Corps, not present with their regiments and not doing regimental duty, should be invited to support the movement in favour of obtaining quicker promotion. It is suggested therefore that each regiment should see that all its officers on furlough, leave, staff or other employ (civil or military) be written to, and either to Messrs. King, King and Co., Bombay, or Messrs. H. S. King and Co., 65, Cornhill.

THE DEPOSIT OF MUNICIPAL FUNDS.

THE Hon. Javerilal U. Yaznik and Mr. Dinshaw Eduljee Wacha have distributed amongst the members of the Corporation a memorandum on the question of the deposit of the surplus funds of the Municipality. Its conclusions is thus summarized :—

1.—That the existing condition of affairs, whereby large unspent balances of loans remain on hand which have either to be deposited on interest with the Bank of Bombay or invested in Government securities, in the result of the present unskilful system of financing loans.

2.—That but for such an unsound system large unspent balances would not have remained on hand.

3.—That though their investment at interest has brought some gain, the ultimate financial result of the operations has been distinctly productive of loss to the Municipality. Virtually, the Municipality has paid a higher rate of interest than 5 per cent. on a greater portion of its existing debt.

4.—That the present system of financing loans should be put a stop to, and that the large unspent balances now invested in Government securities should be judiciously utilised and exhausted before applying to Government for fresh loans.

5.—That, as a rule, the soundest and safest course for the Municipality to adopt in reference to its investment is the purchase for the time being of Government securities—any loss arising from their operations could be legitimately debited to Municipal Fund, while any profit accruing therefrom could, per contra, be credited to that Fund.

6.—That having regard to the fact that the Municipal fund is to all intents and purposes a public fund, and that the Corporation is a public trustee thereof, it is absolutely essential for the safety of that Fund that it should be deposited in the bank which receives the State dues and in no other, and that it is therefore wholly unwise and inexpedient to grant to the Commissioner the power which he seeks.

"THE PARTING."

FROM THE RUSSIAN OF K. R.

(H. I. H. Grand Prince Constantine.)

One last embrace,
One mute glance more,
Again hands interlace—
And then
The fatal moment's o'er !—
But 'tis not at the time—the parting hour—
We understand the meaning of it all :
That all the suffering in all its power
Doth on our senses fall.
We feel it, afterwards, when in the home
The circle takes its place,
Some object to our notice, there, doth come,
Recalls his dear, loved, face,
And says,
"He is no more !"
The while the parting merely draweth nigh
We scarce believe the hour can ever be ;
It seems impossible that he should die ;
But now the stern reality we see
In all its sad simplicity and truth ;
And all the sorrows of the days gone by
Come crowding on us in their bitter ruth.
Then all the heavy time of separation
Drags on with such a slow, a wearying chain
That every day—that every moment passing—
Doth but increase our pain.

J. P.

M. CARNOT officially made known his intention of leaving Paris for Fontainebleau. A Paris correspondent says that only a very small portion of the palace is occupied by the President and his family, all the State rooms being, as usual, open to the public. The part of the wing occupied by M. Carnot is behind the theatre, and was built at a late period for the accommodation of court officials. It is without any historical interest whatever. The rooms were allowed, after the fall of the Empire, to go out of repair, and when M. Carnot, with the leave of the Chamber, made them his summer residence, he stipulated that the cost of all but the external repairs should be borne by himself as well as the cost of the furniture. Madame Carnot is exceedingly popular at Fontainebleau, where she was educated and still has several school friends.

SOME years ago a remarkable experiment, which is worth recalling now, was tried in an iron and steel manufactory in Sheffield. A revolving disc, made from a rail saw with all its teeth cut off, was mounted on a spindle and driven at the rate of nearly three thousand revolutions a minute ; this was—the disc being three feet in diameter—a circumferential velocity of over five miles a minute. Against the disc while travelling at this tremendous speed various varieties of hard iron and steel were applied, and these were all cut through most rapidly. The mettallic substances appeared literally to melt before the revolving disc, and produced sparks in incalculable quantities ; while after cutting through five bars of steel of average thickness, the disc itself was found to be not even sensibly warm.

VANITY FAIR.

(FROM OUR LADY CORRESPONDENT.)

LONDON, JULY 23.

"Le diplomate ne peut fixer par avance ce qu'il dira; Il lui suffit de bien preparer ce qu'il ne dira pas."

It would seem from the conclusion of Lord Randolph Churchill's latest letter from Africa, published this week in the Daily Graphic, that he has not closely followed the usual diplomatic routine as described in the above quotation from M. Victor de Swarte. Or, perhaps, he does not pose as a diplomate. Writing of his visit to the De Beers diamond mine, Lord Randolph says : "When one considers the enormous capital invested, the elaborate and costly plant, the number of human beings employed, and the object of this unparalleled concentration of effort, curious reflections occur. In all other mining, distinctly profitable objects are sought and purposes carried out beneficial generally to mankind. . . . But at the De Beers' mine all the wonderful arrangements I have described above are put into force, in order to extract from the depths of the ground, solely for the wealthy classes, a tiny crystal to be used for the gratification of female vanity, in imitation of a lust for personal adornment essentially barbaric if not altogether savage. Some mitigation of cynical criticism might be urged if the diamonds only adorned the beautiful, the virtuous, and the young, but this unhappily is far from being the case, and a review of the South African diamond mines brings me coldly to the conclusion that, whatever may be the origin of man, woman is descended from an ape." Coming direct from the pen of one who may some day be sitting amongst our hereditary legislators, Lord Randolph Churchill's remarks attract attention which otherwise the quality of his journalistic efforts might not secure to him. But while acknowledging the justness of "his cynical criticism" very few will deduct the same inferences from his review of the South African diamond mines ; and fewer still will see either diplomacy, good taste, or keen wit in his remarkable finale.

***

"Curious reflections occur," to quote Lord Randolph's own words when he finds evidence of women's direct descent from the ape in their love of diamonds. Natural history or observation in the Zoological Gardens does not support his theory by instances of the existence of the diamond loving ape ; but natural history supplies other and more indisputable evidence of the truth of the Darwinian theory, and women cannot unfortunately deny the fact that they are descended from the ape as long as their sons afford such easily recognized evidence of atavism, or throwing back to the original stock.

***

What a comfort that all the scions of aristocratic houses are not posing as cynical critics. Young Lord Dudley, one of the great prizes in the matrimonial market, might perhaps have been safer reviewing diamond mines in South Africa and snubbing womankind in general, instead of setting all the marriageable misses by the ears by falling in love with the beautiful Miss Rachel Gurney, niece of Val Prinsep, A. R. A. Miss Gurney is the only daughter of Mr. Charles Gurney, and is endowed with everything except money that a fairy godmother could give—sweetness, beauty, talents, and an exquisite voice. But it is said that the Duke and Duchess of Bedford, by whom she was adopted when her mother died, intend to supply her only want by giving her a fortune of £100,000. The marriage will take place in London early in September, and will be, according to report, a very smart affair, in spite of its taking place when the world of fashion has left town. The trousseau has been confided to some of the best Parisian firms, as our West-end milliners are not supposed to be able to equip a Countess of Dudley. The reigning Countess of Dudley is supposed not to approve of her son's marriage—what girl was ever good enough for his mother's son ?

Mrs. Gurney, mother of the Countess elect, started as the first lady dressmaker in Mortimer Street, and was afterwards at the head of Elise's in Regent Street, from which Mrs. Isaacson, wife of Mr. Woolton Isaacson, M.P., had retired. Mrs. Isaacson's daughter is now Lady Beaumont, Mrs. Gurney's daughter will be Countess of Dudley. It seems as if Elise's establishment was a good investment for mothers to put their pretty daughters in—only Elise requires an honorarium with each of her young ladies, and undoubtedly she does not guarantee to marry them all into the Peerage. The terms for a three years' apprenticeship to Mme. Elise are £50 cash down, and as the young ladies must look very smart and provide their own rations there are not too many applicants from the ranks of the middle classes. Those who visited the Royal Academy last year may remember the picture of the Emperor Justinian choosing a wife, by Mr. Val Prinsep. Miss Gurney was among the group of maidens, but her uncle's prophetic vision did not extend so far as to paint Lord Dudley as the Emperor.

In the courts women have had another triumph this week in the result, after seventeen days' trial of the Cathcart Case. The jury after about twenty minutes' deliberation, following Mr. Cathcart's private examination in their presence, brought in a verdict (13 against 4 out of 17 jurors) that Mrs. Cathcart is sane and capable of managing her own affairs. The decision was received with loud applause in Court, and Mrs. Cathcart, on the application of her counsel, was at once released from the charge of Dr. Wood. It is interesting to women to notice in the late remarkable trials between man and wife, that in both cases, the man was mostly, if not altogether, dependent on his wife for maintenance. This explains to the simple trusting feminine heart the intense affection of the one husband who tried to insist on the restitution of conjugal rights, and the exceeding solicitude of the other to prevent his wife from squandering her own money. It is undeniable that these women were bound to consider themselves indebted to their husbands in the matter of an honorarium or tip, proportionate to their circumstances, in requital for the unquestionable boon of having been saved from the impossible-to-be-ever-exterminated bogie of spinsterhood. But beyond that—no.—The rights of people even with bees in their bonnets must be protected—they must not, in fact, be made subservient to the desires of those less handsomely, but more happily equipped.

Statistics and the dry-as-dust records of medical science tend to shew that lunacy and the lesser mind disorders, neuralgia, etc., are on the increase, especially among womenkind. There are people who go so far even as to say they can incontestably prove that all the world—every one of us, even you intelligent reader, are mad. If so, it is satisfactory to know that the wide open eye of the law has been turned upon us by the Cathcart Case, and that, in these days, as the Master said in summing up : "It was impossible that any person of sound mind could be detained at the instigation of interested persons." If the Master had added the qualification "with money" to "any person of sound mind" it would have been more accurate. Justice is not always to be had without money. As a motor to set on the machinery of the law courts, cash is as essential as it is to pay for the grease for the commonest cart wheel. Till death or the decree nisi doth us part is the vow of the rich, not of the impecunious—for there is no divorce for the poor. Happily poverty, inconvenient as it is in many ways, is a preventive against such evils as private asylums and unmated marriages ; and those who are unblest with the world's wealth have in exchange the advantage of security from the depredations of the money hunter.

Oxford-Street, is to be congratulated on the addition to its ranks of Miss Alicia Browne, late Superintendent of the Royal Infirmary, Manchester. That a woman of great capabilities and experience should voluntarily resign her hopes of distinction in an honorable profession, for a life of abnegation and poverty, may be a cause of regret to her friends and fellow-workers, but it is a great advantage to the community which she joins in order to devote her talents and qualifications to the spiritual as well as the temporal needs of the suffering poor. While the sisterhoods are reinforced by such women, there can be no danger of a repetition of the very unpleasant stories of conventual tyranny which from time to time find their way into the public papers.

An Eastbourne Criminal is the title of a sketch in "All the World" of Staff Captain Rebecca Chatterton, the lady who lately was sentenced to one month's imprisonment for the crime of heading the Salvation Army meetings at Eastbourne on Sundays. There are criminals and criminals, we all know. Some commit established crimes such as manslaughter and forgery, and for others crimes are established such as gingling castanets or the theatrical tambourine after the manner of General Booth's serious lads and lasses. Captain Rebecca Chatterton, as the officer in charge of the district, is directly responsible for the recent conflicts between the Magistrates and the Salvationists at Eastbourne, and she among others has been one of the martyrs under the Eastbourne Improvement (?) Act. She is described as a woman well-born and daintily bred, carefully educated—the niece of a late Vice-Chancellor of Ireland. Intended by her father for a literary career, she has chosen instead to give ten years of her life to the uplifting and reclaiming of the poorest and lowest in the slums of Dublin and the East-end of London. Whether one goes altogether with Miss Chatterton's views or not, one must concede that she deserves success for the courage and heroism she has shown in carrying out her convictions.

This explains to the simple trusting feminine heart the intense affection of the one husband who tried to insist on the restitution of conjugal rights, and the exceeding solicitude of the other to prevent his wife from squandering her own money. It is undeniable that these women were bound to consider themselves indebted to their husbands in the matter of an honorarium or tip, proportionate to their circumstances, in requital for the unquestionable boon of having been saved from the impossible-to-be-ever-exterminated bogie of spinsterhood. But beyond that—no.—The rights of people even with bees in their bonnets must be protected—they must not, in fact, be made subservient to the desires of those less handsomely, but more happily equipped.

Statistics and the dry-as-dust records of medical science tend to shew that lunacy and the lesser mind disorders, neuralgia, etc., are on the increase, especially among womenkind. There are people who go so far even as to say they can incontestably prove that all the world—every one of us, even you intelligent reader, are mad. If so, it is satisfactory to know that the wide open eye of the law has been turned upon us by the Cathcart Case, and that, in these days, as the Master said in summing up : "It was impossible that any person of sound mind could be detained at the instigation of interested persons." If the Master had added the qualification "with money" to "any person of sound mind" it would have been more accurate. Justice is not always to be had without money. As a motor to set on the machinery of the law courts, cash is as essential as it is to pay for the grease for the commonest cart wheel. Till death or the decree nisi doth us part is the vow of the rich, not of the impecunious—for there is no divorce for the poor. Happily poverty, inconvenient as it is in many ways, is a preventive against such evils as private asylums and unmated marriages ; and those who are unblest with the world's wealth have in exchange the advantage of security from the depredations of the money hunter.

BIHAR PROVERBS.

SUCH a book as Mr. Christian's Bihar Proverbs, the latest volume of Trubner's Oriental Series, gives us such a vivid glimpse of rural India as we could hardly get by any other means. The study of the proverbs of any nation throws a flood of light upon the national character, manners, and customs. This knowledge is especially incumbent on the student of anthropology and sociology in India, where it is so difficult to obtain full and accurate information by direct enquiry, owing to the reserve of the poorer natives in speaking about their manners and customs, and their tendency to try and give the answer that they think will most please their questioner. A collection of proverbs gives in a plain unvarnished form opinions that must have been held by large numbers of men, as otherwise they could never have gained circulation, and the similes, metaphors, and allusions contained in them are taken from the daily life of the people. It is popularly believed in India that proverbs were invented by idiots, which would at first sight seem to be opposed to the high estimation in which they were held by Bacon—or was it Earl Russell ?—as the "wisdom of many and the wit of one." But any one who studies the shrewd practical wisdom contained in Indian and other proverbs will soon be convinced that if any of them emanated from idiots, they must have been idiots of the Edie Ochiltree type, who made up for their partial intellectual deficiencies by a particularly keen insight into the foibles and follies of their fellow men. The Bihar proverbs collected and elucidated by Mr. Christian do not contain any high moral or religious teaching, but they give prudential maxims admirably fitted to guide the country peasants to happiness and prosperity in their humble path of life, teaching them by homely illustrations to avoid extravagance, avarice, litigation, and foolish imitation of their betters, and also giving in brief easily remembered sentences agricultural precepts, which might furnish an Indian Hesiod with materials for an Oriental Works and Days.

While the main use of these proverbs is to be lanterns to the feet of the simple countrymen among whom they pass current, they incidentally give a large amount of curious information to the student of man and manners. They enable us to follow the Bihar peasant from his cradle to his grave, and to know something of his religious observances, his superstitions, his domestic manners, and his opinions of things in general. As to his tastes we learn that he likes pan supari, ginger, dry fish curry with brinjals, and urid pulse fried in ghi or oil, to give which last dish to a low caste man is the Behar equivalent of casting pearls before swine. Waste of good things is also illustrated by the absurd idea of putting ginger or a bubble-bubble into the hand of a monkey. Tobacco is regarded as a necessary of life, and is smoked in a bubble-bubble or chewed mixed with lime. The latter mixture is so agreeable that any one who is good enough to offer it unasked is rewarded for his virtue by the conquest of "heaven, earth, and the lower regions." "Music is charming at a distance" gives indication of a qualified admiration of one of the fine arts, and the propriety of the qualification will not be disputed by any one who has been kept awake by the Indian tom-tom. Singing is regarded as a delightful addition to the enjoyment of a social gathering. A good singer in Behar, as in London and Parisian parties, is in great request, so much so that he or she is inclined to beg to be excused and says, "Neither shall I sing pretty songs, nor will they take me by force to the wedding house to sing." When the singer does sing at the wedding feast, he must sing an appropriate song, or the audience will cry out "It is the wedding of the sickle and song of the hoe," a quaint saying referring to the old custom of performing the marriage ceremony over agricultural implements, just as in ancient Greece the axe or other implement with which a murder was committed was treated as a person and solemnly banished. Girls ought to be married in order of age, and the marrying of the younger before the elder is used as an illustration of the reversal of the natural order of things. It is etiquette for the bride to weep, when she is about to go to her father-in-law's and husband's house; but everybody assumes that she is really glad, so that "bride's tears" are a symbol of pretended sorrow. In her new home, however, she may not be as happy as she expected, and is so often ill-treated by her husband's relations that in Bihar father-in-law and mother-in-law are terms of abuse. Thus it is that the efficacy of violent abuse is expressed by the proverb, "Call him father, he will not even give you oil, but call him father-in-law and he will offer you ghi," which is regarded as infinitely superior. One form of tyranny over the young bride is indicated by the words put into the mouth of the cruel mother-in-law, "The daughter-in-law has fed seven times on the remnants of yesterday, and seven times on the remnants of the day before ; still she makes out she is fasting from last night," from which it appears that the young wife may often have to satisfy her appetite, but we are not surprised that another proverb regards the wife who has neither mother-in-law nor sister-in-law as the happiest of all wives. Several proverbs allude to vain women anointing their eyes with collyrium and their foreheads with vermilion. A blind woman with three collyrium boxes is a type of senseless vanity, as also is Ghura's wife, who, when the whole village was fleeing, said "Please put the vermilion on my forehead." Similar proverbs rebuke the vanity of men, such as that of the fop who "out of doors wears long dhotis and at home has nothing better to eat than masur bread," that is, bread made of common pulse. The school-master has been sufficiently abroad in Bihar for there to be a proverb about writing. When you cannot read a letter the appropriate remark to make is that "What is written by Moses can only be read by God." The profession of teacher, however, seems to be in a depressed condition. The poor Mahometan who knowing Persian, despises manual labour and sets up as a family tutor, is not well rewarded for the pains, as is indicated by the interrogative proverb "Is there ever any food thrown to the dogs in the house at whose door sits the family tutor ?"

A large number of the proverbs collected by Mr. Christian relate to the peculiar characteristics of the castes. Contempt for the low caste is expressed by the proverb "A kaeth (scribe) does what you want on payment, a Brahman on being fed, paddy and betel on being watered, but a low caste man on being kicked." The saying that "there are three careless people, the washerman, the tailor, and the barber" reflects severely upon the character of these very necessary castes. The kaeth or scribe is condemned as more theoretical than practical. "The depth was calculated and an average struck : why then was the child drowned ? " A foolish kaeth is said once to have arrived with his child at a ford, the average depth of which he ascertained by careful calculation to be not that Corporation, and who contributed so usefully to the advancement of their business, should have permitted himself to embody in his motion such a paragraph as the last, an utterly irrelevant and undesirable paragraph, and he (Mr. Geary) hoped he would do in this instance what he had voluntarily done with regard to the other paragraph, and omit it. If he would not do so then he (the speaker) would have to move the following amendment: That, while awaiting a satisfactory settlement of other questions, regarding the statutory liabilities of the Corporation in relation with Government, the Corporation desires to affirm its readiness at all times not only to discharge duties of an obligatory character but also duties which are left in its discretion so as to secure the health and safety of the citizens; and that the Corporation will make a suitable contribution towards the construction of a vaccination depot."

Dr. Cowasjee Hormusjee seconded the amendment.

Mr. Mehta, in reply, said, Mr. Kirkham always warned them not to be led away by rhetoric and eloquence, but he always made an exception in his own case. (Laughter). He could understand Mr. Kirkham's disappointment with his own eloquence, eloquent though he was, but Mr. Kirkham had unfortunately been using his eloquence in a bad cause and had not absolutely got any member to second his amendment for nearly five minutes; it was only when the President had been all round the table that the gallant Colonel (Colonel Merewether) rose at the very last time of asking, and performed the office. (Laughter). His great objection to the amendment was that he had learnt not to believe too much in liberal promises. If there was a grant made by Government, they would be extremely grateful and would express their gratitude in any phraseology which the utmost eloquence of Mr. Kirkham would suggest to them. As to Mr. Geary's amendment he said the mover had utterly misconceived the scope of the last paragraph of the motion. He repudiated the insinuation that it had been conceived in spite or in anger; the spirit in which it had been conceived was that the members of that Corporation were bound to be just to the ratepayers of the city before they could be liberal. (Hear, hear.) With a load of taxation before them in the future could it be just to the ratepayers to spend any money at present on matters which were not obligatory upon them? They must wait till they knew exactly what their liabilities were to be. Was that "spite?" It seemed to him that he had in his motion put the matter simply, as one of practical policy.

The President then put the first paragraph of Mr. Kirkham's motion to the meeting, and it was carried.

Mr. Kirkham's amendment to the second paragraph was put and, having been rejected, paragraph 2 of Mr. Mehta's motion was adopted, as was paragraph 3, with the omission of the words 'so far only as the present year is concerned."

The new paragraph suggested by Mr. Kirkham was rejected.

Mr. Geary's amendment to the last paragraph was lost, whereupon the fourth and last paragraph of Mr. Mehta's motion was declared carried.

After the transaction of some other business, the Corporation adjourned.

RUGBY FOOTBALL.

CIVIL VS MILITARY.

The large gathering of spectators that lined the Cooperage last evening to witness the return Rugby Football match between the Civil and the Military indicated the great and general interest that was centred in this fixture. The game proved a most level contest and was pronounced to have been as interesting as any sport of its kind on the Bombay grounds since the opening of the season in July. Keen interest was demonstrated in the sport by the on-lookers following the scene of play as it travelled up and down the ground. Scrimmages were the order of the day, and some excellent scrcsing and passing were seen on either side. The weather was magnificent, and the turf was in beautiful trim. The game was of the fastest from the "kick-off" till the cessation of play was piped by Captain Smith, who officiated as umpire. In selecting positions the Military drew the co-operage end with the Civilians facing them from the bandstand quarter. The ball was put into play by Walpole, and some neat passing was immediately perceptible amongst the forward brigade of the Civilians. After forcing the ball into the bandstand country the scene of action surged to the "half-way" line, where a scrimmage ensued. Walpole made a good run on his adversaries sticks, where Bell seized the ball from him and tried further progress. But he was promptly collared by St Paul. The Civilians' posts were in jeopardy, but Reid relieved the pressure by shooting the ball into centre country. Mason, who played as back for the Military, received it, but drove it with a hasty kick behind his opponents' home line. When put into play the leather was taken by Gunner Langton who dexterously crossed it to Smith. It was shot by the latter in the imminent proximity of the Civilians' stronghold, where Vines stopped it' and a struggle for possession collected. Walpole picked up the leather from a scrimmage on the near side, and ran across the field, where, in taking a shot with a beautiful punt, he propelled the ball into touch. When thrown in Fischer managed to get it, and endeavoured to bear down on the military lines; but he was met by Ward, who forced him to surrender it. Quarter of an hour's play elapsed, and during this time the Civilians were continually the aggressors on the soldiers' stronghold. The runs of Fischer would have been of material advantage to his side had he been more ready in making over the ball to his own three-quarter backs. Before the centre division could make a good pass to Walpole, who, however, lost the ball through a stumble. He speedily recovered his legs and shot the ball into Reid's hands, who returned it with a shot along the grass. St. Paul battled gamely at the far side to obtain a shot on the military sticks, but in this his attempts proved abortive from being heavily hampered by Walpole and Tudor, another scrimmage gathered on the far side, in which the civilians got the best of it and they carried the war into the very teeth of their opponents, goal, where La Touche, with a splendid drop kick at the ball, but knocked the first goal for his side. But the shot was a little hasty, and flew past the post. Walpole kicked from home, and after stubborn contests at the near line Tudor got a run across where he was held by Reid. There was another scrimmage up at the far corner and the ball went out. When thrown in La Touche received it, from whom it was catched by Langton, who made a bad pass that was captured by Fischer. In running across the field Fisher was collared by Ward, and a scrimmage formed within the "half-way" line where the ball was picked up by Gr. H. Smith, who made a dexterous cross to Tudor. The Military, who had some warm work to do in defence of their colors, now assumed the aggressive and swarmed up round their enemy's posts. The danger was, however, averted by Reid driving the ball away. Ward made a good run up near line and sent the ball in touch, when the umpires whistle announced the "half time." When this was announced neither side had scored.

After this cessation the sides changed ends, and Walpole lodged the ball with a magnificent kick right in front of the Civilians' posts. Owens got it away when it travelled into touch on the near line. Anderson caught it after it was returned, and bolted across the field down on the soldiers' posts. Walpole watched his opportunity and bowled him over. The game waxed hot and fierce amongst the forwards and they created great amusement in the protracted manner in which they hung and rolled over one another in the "scrimmages." Anderson made another successful capture on a throw—in from the near line, but the enemy closed around him, and in the fight for possession Reid picked it up and propelled it to the far corner with a straight and rapid shot. Ward took it when the ball was thrown in and attempted to run down to the Civilians' sticks, but Fischer followed him closely and pluckily held on till he lost the ball. The excitement of the game still increased and the civilians made a succession of in roads into the soldiers' camp, where a most desperate battle was fought almost beneath their bar. But the impetuosity of the gallant soldiers did not flag for an instant and they fought cheerfully in defence of their stronghold whilst the battle was at this pitch Mr. Reid, the Civilians' crock, was placed hors de combat by spraining his ankle, and was therefore compelled to retire. At last the Civilians were swarming around their adversaries' stronghold with every hope of securing a goal Walpole, who was generally admired for his play, picked up the ball and made a run right down the ground that earned him warm applause from the spectators. This performance no doubt saved his sticks, and when the umpire's whistle blew the announcement of "Time" neither side had succeeded to score. The following were the teams:—

MAULVI VILAYAT ALI, one of the religious leaders of the Mahomedan community of Delhi, preaching in the Juma Masjid at that place on the 25th July, is said to have exhorted his hearers, as one means of preventing secession from the faith of Islam, to keep their children from English schools and from acquiring a knowledge of the English language.

THE STAR OF INDIA MILLS.

An extraordinary general meeting of the shareholders of the above company was held at the Office, in Church Gate Street, yesterday afternoon, Mr. S. David in the chair, for the purpose of considering a proposed change in the articles of association regulating the remuneration of the agents. The proposal was that from the first day of July, 1891, and thereafter the remuneration payable by the company to the secretaries, treasurers, and agents for their services, shall be a commission calculated on the following scale, that is to say:—(a) At least one pie per every pound of yarn or cloth manufactured by the company; (b) Two pies per every pound of yarn or cloth manufactured by the company in any year, in which its net earnings, after providing for all costs of maintenance, repairs, establishments, working expenses, depreciation to the extent of two per cent. on the capital of the company, and the said remuneration of two pies per pound shall be sufficient to pay a dividend at the rate of four but less than six per cent. on the then paid-up capital of the company; and (c) Three pies per every pound of yarn or cloth manufactured by the company in any year in which its net earnings, after providing for all costs of maintenance, repairs, establishments, working expenses, depreciation to the extent of two per cent. on the capital of the company, and the said remuneration of three pies per pound shall be sufficient to pay a dividend at the rate of six per cent. or more on the then paid-up capital of the company, and that such commission be in lieu of and in substitution of the Commission of one quarter anna per pound mentioned in the 81st article of association.

The change proposed was agreed to, and a cordial vote of thanks was passed to Messrs. Heeramaneck, it being recognized that in meeting the shareholders as they had done the firm had acted with great liberality, and that henceforth there would be no ground for the suggestion that the interests of the shareholders and those of the agents were in opposition to each other. It is understood that the effect of the new scale of commission in a bad year would be to add seventy thousand rupees to the amount that would be available for dividend, as compared with what would be available under the quarter-anna per pound scale.

MILITARY NEWS.

It having been found that young officers of the Bengal Army whose regiments do not happen to be serving in the Punjab, or who are not otherwise employed in that province, will in many cases have to travel long distances in order to pass the obligatory examinations in Pushtu, the extension of the concession made to the officers of the Bombay Army has been made to them, until such time as Pushtu is more commonly known and the difficulty of arranging examinations at Military Stations other than those on, or near, the North-West Frontier is thereby obviated, and they will be granted free passages by rail, if successful, on all occasions when it is found impracticable to assemble a board, for the examination, in the North-West or Lower Provinces.

WHY NURSES DON'T MARRY THEIR PATIENTS.

A LADY has written an interesting letter in reply to a widely-spread statement that the marriage rate is high among nurses. Men (she says) are creatures of habit and lovers of comfort; they also have gratitude strongly developed, so that it is not at all strange that, missing the habitual and intelligent care that characterises the programme of a competent nurse, the convalescent should try to recall the angel by proposing marriage.

Of a dozen men who lost hold of health, more than half will very likely confess that they entertained serious thoughts on the subject, not from any real love for the nurse who had pulled them through the case, but, as one generous bachelor put it, "Because she thoroughly understood the art of taking proper care of him." In these days of bad food and poor cooking, when business success, morals, and life itself depend upon the welfare of the commanding part of man—his stomach—the "taking proper care of him" is everything.

Fortunately, or otherwise, according to the estimate the critic puts upon marriage, the nurse entertains ideas of a different character. A man in company, in public, or even in business, is another individual when he is fever-fastened to a sick-bed. It doesn't make a particle of difference how facinating he may be on his feet, on his back he is simply awful.

That is a very commonplace expression, but it is the only one that fits the case, and it is also the real reason why nurses do not fall in love with their patients.

The average man takes refuge in profanity when he becomes convinced he has got to stay in bed and stare at the ceiling, and the manner in which he hurls things to destruction first disgusts a gentle-woman and then annoys her. Unlike the saintly office boy, she does not cultivate sufficient agility to dodge slippers and tea cups, but latter she gets her revenge by insolating the wretch on his own premises, leaving nothing within his reach, but the pillow under his head.

And then to think of marrying him! It is simply preposterous.

KILLING A CHAMELEON.

Dr. Fraser confirms the stories of the rapidity with which a chameleon will change its colour; and adds an infallible recipe for killing him:—

Chameleons are far from uncommon; but they stand so motionless on the twigs amongst the foliage, and adapt their colour so rapidly to their surroundings that only an experienced eye discovers them. The rapidity with which they change colour is very surprising. I have seen one change in less than a minute from a yellow and brown to a most delicate transparent green, exactly like the young leaves of the banana tree on which it stood. The natives told me that tobacco juice would kill the chameleon almost instantly. I expressed incredulity; whereupon they gave one at little piece of tobacco which they had fixed on the end of a stick, and heated in the fire until it exuded its sticky juice. The chameleon snapped angrily at the tobacco, and then marched on slowly as if nothing had happened—a fact which I pointed out to the natives. "Wait a little, master, wait and see," they replied. The chameleon had hardly gone twenty steps when it began to stagger, stopped short, and then gradually began to shake all over, as if it had a violent attack of St. Vitus's dance. Slowly its sides sank in, its limbs were drawn towards its body, its tail curled up, and it fell over on its side dead.

"THE RENUNCIATION OF ST. ELIZABETH."

REFERRING to Lord Stanley of Alderley's question regarding Mr. Calderon's picture, Lord Salisbury, speaking in the House of Lords on the 17th ult., said:—

The only idea he had been able to form of the picture was from a woodcut in the pages of Punch where it was called "Zzzz" showing her back to the members of the Council. Consequently he was unable to enter upon Lord Stanley's course of reasoning until he laid down some canon as to the course an artist should pursue in dealing with the question of clothes and no clothes. (Laughter.) He had observed that artists took a different view on that subject from the majority of mankind, and that matters which they held to be wholly innocuous would, if translated in ordinary life, attract the attention of the police. (Loud laughter.) Nor was that confined to subjects of ordinary life. As far as his experience went, even in the representation of sacred subjects, he had noticed that the desire to exhibit a knowledge of the human form had overcome the desire to clothe saintly persons with a sufficient amount of costume. (Laughter.) He referred to the Magdalena of Guercino at Naples and to the Magadalen of Correggio at Paris. Neither of these two would answer to the view of clothing that was entertained at the latter end of the nineteenth century—(a laugh)—but he had never heard of any suggestion of profanity on the part of either of these two artists, and these pictures were shown in places where the Roman Catholic faith prevailed. Therefore, he was unable to say even if he had the power, that he would interfere with the Chantrey trustees on this occasion, because he failed to see his noble friend's canon of art. But there was one topic of consolation which he would suggest to the mind of his noble friend. He had not been to the gallery in which the Chantrey pictures were exhibited, but some friends of his had been, and they assured him that it was a place of great seclusion—(laughter)—suited to the exhibition of work of this character. In fact, when his friends went on a Saturday afternoon—a perfectly free day—there was not a soul in the place. (Laughter.) If that was the fact, he asked if any better disposition of the picture could have been made? (Renewed laughter.) If it had been sold to a private owner it would have been included in the collection in his gallery, were it would be seen by all kinds of persons, including maidservants and others, daily. (Laughter.) But the place where it was now to be seen was reserved for the study of those practising art, and who were superior to the prejudices which invaded the mind of his noble friend, and where, at all events, it would be deprived of the power either of injuring public morality or of offending the religious feelings of those to whom his noble friend referred. (Hear.) He wholly disbelieved that the artist had the slightest idea or intention of offending any religious susceptibilities.

AMERICAN papers announce that at the recent funeral of the late King of the Sandwich Islands, among other music, a "Domine refugium," composed by the Queen Liliuokalani, was executed. The Queen, it seems, has presented the town of Honolulu with a band of trumpeters, and has started a choir, presided over by an English organist.

A LARGE painting, by J. L. Vensel, is now being exhibited in Berlin, which, under the title of "On the Kenia," is intended as a souvenir of the Emin Pacha Expedition. The centre of the picture is occupied by a camp of tents erected by the German Expediton on the plateau of Lykistia. The German flag waves in front of the principal tent; camp fires are burning, and pack-animals are standing in a group. A mass of clouds fill the background, and above them soars the snow-clad point of the Kenia mountain. Peters, with his servant Hussein, the leader of the Somalis, is seen ready to fire, at seven Massais, who are creeping up to the tent in their strange head-dresses and protected by their immense shields. In the background is seen Lieutenant von Tiedemann directing the bringing in of cattle.

STORIES ABOUT WILD BEASTS.

A VERY attractive volume has been provided in "The Arab and the African," by Dr. Tristram Pruen, which has just been published by Messrs. Seeley and Co. Dr. Pruen has spent three years in Eastern Equatorial Africa, and he has sketched his experiences in a very pleasant and lively fashion. Perhaps there is nothing more interesting in his book than his account of the ways and wiles of the wild beasts with which the sparsely peopled country swarms.

The buffalo would seem to be a much more dangerous customer to tackle than either the lion or the leopard, as the following story attests:—

I have heard that a variety of leopard sometimes attacks man, but could hear of no instance of it. Also that the man-eating lion does; if so, he certainly is a rarity in Central Africa. A rogue buffalo certainly does occasionally, like one that attacked a friend of mine, Mr. Cole, of Kisokwe. But even this instance can hardly be quoted as an unprovoked attack, as the animal in question certainly had its privacy intruded upon. The people at Kisokwe were in greater want of meat, and Cole had gone out one evening hoping to be able to bring home some game. After searching for some time he saw an antelope at a distance, and commenced to stalk it. Being an accomplished hunter, he succeeded in getting well within range without attracting the animal's attention; but in doing so he executed a feat which must be almost unparalleled in the annals of hunting. So cautiously did he approach through the long grass that he was unnoticed by a buffalo lying down in it, and so intent was he on his game that, unknown to himself, he stalked right up to the buffalo, and stood just in front of its head, with his back to it. In a second the astonished animal was on its feet, and the next moment Cole sharply round; but so close were the two that, although Cole's gun was at full-cock, before he could shoot the buffalo had caught him on the back, and he and his gun parted company as they went flying through the air. A second and a third time did the infuriated animal gore and toss him before he could realize his position and restrain his shouts. Then he lay motionless and quiet feigning death, but expecting every moment that he would be tossed again. However, the buffalo stood eyeing him for a few minutes, and then half satisfied that its work was done, trotted off and stood again to watch its work at a short distance, finally disappearing in the jungle; whilst Cole's native boy, a frightened spectator of what had been happening, ran to the house two miles away and brought assistance.

LEONINE DISCRETION.

The lion, at least in Eastern Equatorial Africa, does not rage about seeking whom he may devour. He is quite as frightened of man as man is of him:—

I think most people's respect for the king of beasts very much diminished when they come to live in his neighbourhood. When you come across one he almost invariably makes off, and it is safer to let him go, unless you are a very true shot, or have several armed natives with you, as a wounded lion is a dangerous animal to deal with. I remember Herr Krieger, the German in command of the furthest station in interior, coming one day very unexpectedly upon a lion. He was shooting quail, and had just emptied both barrels and started in pursuit of a wounded bird. In the pursuit he jumped into a shallow pit or trench, and as he did so a terrified lioness, who had been enjoying a nap, jumped out and disappeared. He was relieved to see her go, as his gun was unloaded. A friend of mine told me that, on one of his marches, he came upon a lion a short distance from the path. One of the men went off to have a shot at it, which only irritated the animal, who pursued him with great leaps and bounds, as he rushed shouting back to the caravan; but on getting nearer the body of men, the lion evidently considered discretion the better part of valour and acted accordingly.

AN ASTONISHED LEOPARD.

A leopard is always ready to dine off a dog, provided he be not too large. With dogs beyond the size of a terrier he is decidedly cautious:—

One evening, on my first journey up-country, as I was stopping at a mission-station, my boy had carelessly chained up my mastiffs on the verandah at dusk instead of taking them straight to the out-houses as he ought to have done. Suddenly a leopard, which had evidently come from below, and,no doubt, expected to find one of the half-starved little native dogs which abound everywhere, jumped up in between them. There he stood, perfectly motionless with surprise on his first introduction to the British mastiff. He was not left long to decide what to do, for one dog got him by the head, the other by the tail, and the two quickly bowled him over. He lay perfectly still, astonished at the unexpected turn which events had taken; whilst the dogs, evidently puzzled at his quiet behaviour, simply held him there and growled, but offered him no further violence. Before the men who had been standing near could return with their guns, the leopard had taken advantage of the dogs' indecision to suddenly wriggle away and disappear in the darkness, leaving them without even a scratch. A leopard will risk a good deal to get a dog, but a kid he seems quite unable to resist. A friend told me that one once jumped into his kitchen through the window after dawn, and pulled out a kid. At the same station whilst I was there another burst open the door of the hut in which two of the mission-men were sleeping, caught up a little kid that was just inside, and hastily retreated. I see now the force of associating these two animals in the verse, "The leopard shall lie down with the kid."

DRAUGHTS OF DELIGHT.

To "sit beneath the arching vines and wonder"—why you don't get cool after imbibing cunningly-iced drinks is a favourite and alluring summer pastime. The answer to the question depends largely upon the nature of the drink; for, while there are a few "cups" and other compounds which really cool, most of them, after a period of brief and giddy delight, increase the discomfort they were meant to cure. But it is only by long and passingly delicious experiment that man may learn the summer drink which at once suits and cools him. It is often a long quest; but in the meantime it is seductive. How seductive it may be, the curious may see themselves by turning over the leaves of "Drinks a la Mode," a seasonable little book which Mrs. De Salis, whose works on the art of eating are already familiar, has just issued through Messrs. Longman. That all men and most women may judge of the efficacy of her recipes, and of the vast variety of possible cups and cooling quenchers which ingenuity has invented, we set out a random selection from Mrs. De Salis's tempting pages.

CUPS OF VARIOUS KINDS.

Badminton.—Place in a covered jug on ice a bottle of Beaune, the rind of one orange, the juice of one, an ounce of bruised candy, two or three slices of cucumber, a glass of curaçoa, and a little balm and borage (a sprig of verbena if in season or lemon-scented geranium leaf). Keep in ice for an hour, then pour in two bottles of soda-water well iced.

Burgundy Cup.—Take a bottle of sparkling Burgundy, one bottle of chablis, a liqueur glassful or Chartreuse, a slice of cucumber, two bottles of Saluteris water, and a tumblerful of shaven ice; then imbed in ice.

Chablis Cup.—Peel one lemon very thinly, take twelve lumps of sugar, two glasses of sherry, a quart of chablis, and a sprig of borage. Stir all these well together and pour into the jug, which should be placed on ice. Before serving stir the mixture and pour in two bottles of iced soda-water.

Champagne and Saumor Cups (Inexpensive).—Put in a jug an ounce of white sugar-candy, a little borage and balm an orange sliced, two slices of lemon, half a glass of sherry, and a bottle of champagne or Saumor. Imbed in ice for an hour; also have imbedded in ice two bottles of sodawater. After decanting the champagne mixture from one jug to another, pour in the soda-water.

Champagne Cup.—Put into a large jug a bottle of iced sparkling champagne, with twelve lumps of white sugar, a glass of curaçoa, a scented geranium leaf, a piece of borage, and two slices of cucumber. Let those stand in ice, and also put two bottles of soda or Salutaries water in ice, and when ready to serve pour in the soda-water and remove the cucumber and borage.

Cider Cup.—Peel a lemon very thinly and cut three slices of cucumber and put them with a small sprig of mint into a quart of cider and let it stand for about twenty minutes; then take away cucumber, lemon peel, and mint, and add half a wineglass of champagne, fin half a wine glass of curacoa, half a wineglass of ginger brandy, one glass of sherry, and lastly put in two bottles of ginger beer and let it stand on ice till ready to serve. Just before serving put in a lump of ice.

Claret Cup.—Put a bottle of claret into a jug, with twelve lumps of sugar, two slices of lemon, a glass of noyeau or curacoa, and one of sherry, imbed in ice, and add a little borage and balm, a verbena leaf or a strawberry. When ready for use add two bottles of iced soda-water and remove borage and lemon. Shaven ice can be put a few minutes before serving.

Hock Cup.—Mix together one bottle of Hockheimer and one bottle of soda-water, and add one tablespoonful of castor sugar, three large slices of pine-apple, and four pounds of chipped ice.

Hebe's Cup.—Cut an inch and a-half off of a freshly cut cucumber into very thin slices and put them in a China bowl with the thin rind of a lemon and three tablespoonfals of castor sugar. Mix all well together, then pour on three tablespoonfuls of brandy, six of sherry, a bottle of soda-water, and a bottle of claret; let them remain for an hour, and add another bottle of sodawater just before serving.

Moselle Cup.—Put a large slice of pine-apple at the bottom of the jug, with a tablespoonful of powdered sugar, pour over it a bottle of Moselle, insert a large lump of ice, and just before it is to be used add a pint of sparkling Moselle.

Mulberry Cup.—Put two pounds of mulberries into a jar and extract the juice by setting the basin in the oven, and when sufficiently done, strain through a sieve. Boil the juice, allowing to a pint a pound of loaf sugar. To make cup, put half a pint of the juice into a bottle of sparkling lemonade, and put chipped ice in.

Orange Cardinal.—Peel a large orange very thinly, remove all the white pithy skin, and cut the fruit into thin slices; take out all pipes, put the slices in a bowl or basin, and sift over them a quarter-pound of castor sugar. Put the rind of the orange into a pint of vin de Grave or Niersteiner, and let it infuse for eight or nine hours. Then strain it over the slices of orange, and, just before serving, add a bottle of champagne.

Pine-apple Cardinal.—Take a pine-apple and cut it into thin slices. Put these into a deep dish, and strew them with powdered sugar, and let them stand five or six hours. Put the rind into a small stewpan with as much water as will cover it; bring it to a boil, skim it, and pour it over the fruit. Add six ounces of loaf sugar and a bottle of hock. Cover and leave it in a cool place for three or four hours. When required, add another bottle of claret, one wineglassful of sherry, six straw berries, three pounds of pounded ice, and four tablespoonfuls of sifted sugar.

COOLING DRINKS.

Bomba.—Blanch two ounces of sweet almonds and rub them to a smooth pulp in a mortar with an equal weight of sugar; to this add a single bitter almond, also rubbed to a paste. One quart of water should be gradually added in a thin stream to this pulp, and the mixing must continue the whole time.

Lemon Squash—Press the juice from the lemons and strain thoroughly. Let it stand till morning; pour it from its own bulk of white sugar, add one pint of water, stir over a gentle fire till the sugar is dissolved; add the shell and white of one egg whisked; whip it into the lemon syrup and continue till it boils; let it boil for a few minutes, then strain it through a silk tammy cloth and bottle it and then add two drops of citric acid, fill up with a little lemon syrup and cork. A wineglass of this should be poured in, which fills a glass rather more than half-way; add sodawater and serve with straws.

May Nectar (German recipe).—Take six leaves each of tarragon, geranium, milfoil, and pimpernel, half the quantity of black currant, mint, basil, and balsam-leaves. Slice a lemon and add to it also a few sprigs of lavender, half a pound of castor sugar, twenty leaves of balm, fifteen of peppermint, two of mild sweet-scented woodruff with the blossom. Put these into a large china bowl and pour four bottles of Wurtzeimer. Let this mixture sleep for a couple of hours before it is drunk.

Mead.—Dissolve a pound of honey in three quarts of water. Boil, skim, and reduce to half a gallon. Fill a jug with it, cover it, and let it remain undisturbed for three days.

Orangeade.—Make a syrup by boiling six ounces of loaf sugar in half a pint of water till the sugar is dissolved. Pour it over the thin yellow rinds of two small oranges and let them infuse for three hours. Strain the juice of six oranges into a glass jug; add the syrup after passing it through a fine tammy, and a pint and a half of cold water.

Strawberry.—Simple syrup one gallon, four ounces of essence of strawberry, one ounce of tartaric acid, one-eighth of an ounce caramel, prepared carmine one-eighth of an ounce.

Tamarind Drink.—Boil three pints of water with an ounce and a half of tamarinds, three ounces of currants, and two ounces of stoned raisins, till about a third has evaporated; strain; add a bit of lemon peel, which should be removed in half an hour; then cool.

RECENT years have developed such wonderful discoveries in the fields of science, art, and manufactures that it seems almost strange that nature is not completely superceded and everything performed artificially. Where our forefathers used the flint and steel we employ the wax match, and instead of the old fashioned lamps and candles we have gas and electric lights. We have also replaced the old rumbling stage coach with our railways and electric trams. Generally speaking, so much progress has not been made in the field of medicine, very few really important discoveries (with one notable exception) having been made; disease still treads its insidious course among the inhabitants of this fair land. What is it, and how does it get into the body? Disease makes its attack so gently and developes itself so gradually, that many people never suspect its deadly presence until a dangerous stage is reached. They neglect the first signs, as a feeling of weakness, dull eyes, fickle appetite, pains in the sides, dark or muddy urine, continual tired feeling and restless and wakeful nights, these symptoms only too plainly tell the approach of some physical affliction, bitterly do people then attack their enclosures and thoughtlessness in disregarding the early and curable stages. A timely use of Clements Tonic would have restored the health and vigor, insured rest and rebuilt the physical and nervous constitutions, and reinvigorated the whole physical structure; its price is so low that a long course of it can be taken for less money than one visit to a doctor will cost and you have a medicine which has proved its virtues in hundreds of cases, whereas the doctor's prescription is hap-hazard and experimental. A gentleman who objects to have his name published, writes: "Castlereagh-street, Sydney,—Dear Sir,—For some time past I have been in the hands of the doctors, and I can truthfully assert that I obtained not the slightest benefit. I heard of Clements Tonic, and have taken three bottles with such marked good results as to cause me to write and congratulate you on the very excellent virtues of your remedy. It has completely cured me of all my disorders, and I feel myself an entirly different man. A friend of mine to whom I gave a bottle, half of which he has taken, says he feels wonderfully better in his general health, and, with myself, begs to cordially thank you for giving the public the benefit of your skill in manufacturing such a splendid tonic. I do not wish my name used in print, but hope you are very prosperous in the sale of your medicine, as you justly deserve." We must, however, give one word of warning. Some unscrupulous traders are only too anxious to force some vile imitation of Clements Tonic upon an unsuspecting purchaser. We consider the man who practices such deceit and will trifle with the sufferings of unfortunate men and women, to be destitute of all honor and honesty, or as Shakespeare puts it

> A stoney adversary, an inhuman wretch,
> Incapable of pity, void and empty,
> From every drachm of mercy.

Reader, take this lesson to heart, and read these words to the swindler who tries to impose upon you with a substitute, which he knows is worthless, ask for and insist on Clements Tonic. Laboratories, Newtown, N.S.W.

THE "WHALEBACK" REVOLUTION IN SHIPPING.

GREAT interest was excited in Liverpool the other day by the arrival of the "Charles W. Wetmore," the pioneer of a type of vessels which her designer and builders believe will create a complete revolution in the construction of sea-going merchant and passenger vessels. The leading idea of her designer, Captain M'Dougall, appears to have been to present the smallest possible resisting surface to the action of the waves, and thereby to secure great carrying capacity at a light draught. Below the water the Charles W. Wetmore's lines do not vary greatly from those of an ordinary sea-going vessel; but above the water line the difference is radical and somewhat startling to a mind of conservative tendencies. As she lies in the west side of the Waterloo Dock, Liverpool, loaded down with some 2,700 tons of wheat, her appearance as an ocean-going steamer is certainly unique. Of her 265ft. of total length only about 40ft. are more than 6ft or so above the water line. The exceptions are a central turret forward, with outlying pillars, the whole supporting a small deck for look-out purposes, a capstan, and the storage of ropes and gear. A much larger turret aft, with a similar outlying fringe of stout pillars, supports a double deck, the upper one of which accommodates the ship's boats, gearing &c.; and the lower the captains' and officers' quarters, the galley, chart-house, wheel-house, &c.; whilst underneath the main-deck are the engines, boilers, &c., and quarters for the engineers and staff. The whole of the intervening deck space of fully 200ft. by 30ft. presents an unbroken and slightly convex surface of steel plates, a slight railing only protecting the crew as they pass to and fro, but otherwise leaving an uninterrupted space for the free play of the waves. The comparatively trifling impediments of the two turrets, and pillars fore and aft are really the only upper works which at all interfere with a clean sweep over the vessel; and it is quite evident that in an angry sea this type of vessel, so long as she remained water-tight, would have an immense advantage over those which have any top hamper. At first glance an unskilled eye would picture a fearful rolling propensity on the part of such a craft; but her designer claims, and her record voyage fully confirms the claim, that with heavy beam seas she rolls far less than a vessel of ordinary construction, owing to the fact that the waves get little if any grip upon her, but pass harmlessly over or roll back impotent. She is built, as far as the hull goes, wholly of steel, and her central portion forms one vast hold, which is closed in by steel hatches, screwed down lightly and fitted with rubber linings, so that they become absolutely water-tight. The engines are of 800 horse-power, with a stroke of 3ft 6in., driving a single screw from which an average speed of nine knots is derived. The extraordinary carrying capacity of the vessel may be judged from the fact that with dimensions of 265ft. long by 35ft. beam and 21ft. depth of hold, she can carry 95,000 bushels of wheat, and has actually brought across 87,000 bushels on a mean draught of 15ft. 10in.; but her economic value is greatly enhanced by the fact that in addition to her own burden she is designed to tow three large barges of similar construction, but without propelling power of their own, so that the cargo represented by one combined voyage would be something enormous in proportion to the engine-power employed. The Charles W. Wetmore was built at West Superior, which lies in the same bay of the great lake as Duluth, and she took on board her cargo at the same point. She was navigated through the lakes, safely passing the various formidable rapids, to Montreal, under the command of Mr. Hastings, of Liverpool, a gentleman of long and varied experience. At Montreal, Captain Saunders, of the firm of Saunders, Ward, and Company, of Jaconia, Washington Territory, the representatives of the American Steam Barge Company, of Wall-street, New York, the owners, took command, Mr. Hastings taking the position of first mate. The vessel left Montreal on the 5th ult., with a crew of twenty hands all told, which is considerably less than the complement of an ordinary vessel of equal capacity. She had a comfortable run down the Gulf of St. Laurence, and after calling at Cape Breton to coal she started on the ocean voyage, and after leaving the Newfoundland coast she was what Mr. Hastings describes as "a rough summer trip." She encountered any quantity of beam seas, and justified the anticipations of her projectors by scarcely rolling at all. There were no head seas to speak of, so that there were scarcely as full a test of her pitching propensities. Generally speaking the voyage was uneventful, but her merits as a sea boat are summed up by the chief mate's expression—"The more I see of her the better I like her." I cannot speak too highly in praise of her." Captain Saunders was not very communicative, but he seemed unquestionably proud of his charge, and promised to astonish this side of the water still more before he had done. This intimation probably applied to the information, from another source, that the designer of this vessel has prepared plans for a passenger steamer of a similar type over 400 feet long, and with two rows of passenger decks, supported on turrets and pillars. The ultimate destination of the "Charles W. Wetmore" and a number of her consorts, will be on the station between Tacoma and San Francisco, for the conveyance of coals to the latter place.

THE PRINCE OF NAPLES IN LONDON.

THE Prince of Naples left Monza at ten o'clock on Tuesday morning, 1st ult., for London. He arrived at Chalons-cross on the evening of the 22nd, and was met at the Italian Embassy. His visit was to extend over twenty days, during which he was to dine with the Prince of Wales and visit the Queen at Osborne and Lord Salisbury at Hatfield. Through the Italian Ambassador he also accepted the invitation of the Lord Mayor and the Lady Mayoress to dinner at the Mansion House on Tuesday, 28 ult., the Lady Mayoress afterwards holding a reception to meet his Royal Highness. The Prince arranged to pay visits to the Zoological Gardens, Aldershot, Woolwich, Windsor, Oxford, Plymouth, afterwards proceeding to Scotland.

A friend who has long and intimately known the Prince of Naples sends to the Paris correspondent of the Times a letter which will make him better known than he is at present by the bulk of the public. The writer says:—"I saw Victor Emmanuel, Prince of Naples, two days ago, and was struck with the satisfaction he evinced at his visit to England. He is one of those who entertain the greatest admiration for English character and institions, for the simple reason that his is one of the most seriously cultivated minds of his generation. He has had the good fortune of having as Governor, Colonel Osio, known both for his strictness and his scholarship combining military knowledge with a wide acquaint
